Without seeing the terms of the insurance policy it is impossible to say whether the insurance company is liable to pay. In the first place the bus company may be asked to make a claim for the amount of compensation paid by Government and to consent to its being paid to Government. At the same time the company may be informed of this step and asked to pay the amount direct to Government with the consent of the bus company when the Company ^{makes} its claim. That will probably make things clearer.
